Francesco di Crescenzo graduated in November 2013 in Multimedia Science and Technology (University of Udine, Pordenone Campus, Italy) with the Bachelor thesis "Userguides and social platforms for learning purposes: The case study LearnWeb2.0".

The thesis gives an interesting overview of userguides for social platform users. The practical part of the dissertation consists in the development of a videoguide for YELL/TELL, a professional community for lifelong teacher education purposes that uses the LearnWeb2.0 social platform developed at the L3S Research Center, to share professional experiences and teaching and learning resources.

The current version of the videoguide is in Italian. Francesco di Crescenzo is working on the English version of the videoguide.

Collaboration with the University of Udine