New at L3S: Expert for Entrepreneurship

The L3S will strengthen its activities in the field of entrepreneurship. In December 2014, the team was complemented by Susanne Oetzmamn, an expert for university spin-off companies. She will build a support service for students and scientists with an interest in starting up a business.

Susanne Oetzmamn studied geography and economics at the University of Hanover and the London School of Economics. She also completed a course in European integration and international economic relations at the Europa-Kolleg of the University of Hamburg. Since 1995, Susanne Oetzmamn has worked in the field of technology transfer and several years as startup coach at the Leibniz Universität Hannover.

Under the direction of managing director G. Herrmann-Krotz it is the aim to establish a spirit of entrepreneurship at L3S and associated departments. The focus will be on sensitisation, consulting and qualification of students and scientists. To arouse interest in entrepreneurship, a series of entrepreneurship talks at L3S has already started. The next talk will take place on Friday, 30 January 2015, 2 pm. It will mainly deal with starting a business by scientists from countries outside the EU: "Start up and stay - setting up a business in Germany". More entrepreneurship workshops and seminars will start in March. Further information will follow soon.
